Thyroid Cancer 2011

Advances in the Diagnosis & Treatment of Thyroid Nodular Disease and Cancer

Friday, November 11, 2011 • The Down Town Club • 6th & Chestnut Streets • Philadelphia, PA 19106

COURSE DESCRIPTION

The Thyroid Cancer 2011 Conference is designed for specialists working in the field of thyroid disease: general and endocrine surgeons, otolaryngologists, endocrinologists, medical imagers, pathologists, family physicians, nurses and trainees. This CME Conference offers participants a unique opportunity to witness experts deliberate and debate how they would manage patients suspected of having thyroid cancer. This active learning format features critical deliberations regarding patient cases, clinical findings, differential diagnoses and management plan options. Participants will examine cases from multiple perspectives, and gain in-depth understanding to how experienced healthcare providers approach difficult patient care decisions. Mini-Keynotes from leading practitioners provide evidence for care decisions discussed in panels.

This course will evaluate the recent advances in diagnostic and therapeutic approaches to Thyroid Nodular Disease and Cancer that have altered traditional management paradigms. The latest evidence-based guidelines from the American Thyroid Association regarding Thyroid Cancer will be reviewed and practitioners will be provided with an array of contemporary management elements with which to approach patients with Thyroid Nodular Disease and Cancer. The combined format of live debate and didactic presentations will allow participants to observe and question faculty practitioners as they deal with real patient problems, and demonstrate how to apply new information and evidence based guidelines into their practices.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

- Identify and assess the safety indications and side effects related to post-operative Radioactive Iodine Therapy for Thyroid Cancer.
- Analyze the risks and benefits of prophylactic and therapeutic neck dissections.
- Recognize the dilemmas in the post-operative surveillance and treatment of differentiated thyroid cancer.
- Examine methods for the initial management of low risk Papillary Thyroid cancer.
- Review and discuss the latest evidence-based guidelines from the American Thyroid Association regarding Thyroid Cancer alongside an array of contemporary management elements with which to approach patients with Thyroid Nodular Disease and Cancer.
- Assess their individual practice in light of the information and discussions during the course, and identify specific strategies to implement as part of a continuing improvement process for their practices.

The Kimmel Cancer Center (KCC) was founded in 1991 and is one of a select group of cancer centers in the nation designated by the National Cancer Institute. Today, the KCC has approximately 150 members that include physicians and scientists dedicated to discovery and development of novel approaches for cancer treatment.
